Protecting us and our friends against sexual exploitation.

Sam's Story

This story is a rewrite of Jane's Story from the perspective of the ABUSER. By reading thigs from Sam's perspective; it gives you clues about the grooming process to help you understand how abusers use affection, lies, gifts, threats and manipulation to trap their victims.

It's not okay for someone to manipulate you into doing sexual things for their own or someone else's benefit. If you're under 18, this is called child sexual exploitation and it is against the law.

Grooming takes many forms and many abusers will gain the trust of their victims over time.

Do not ignore the warning signs if you or a friend are at risk of sexual exploitation. See <http://notinourcommunity.org/get-help/> to understand the options for help.

1. Jane wasn't anything special. The kind of lass you wouldn't really notice in a group and that's what made her a good target. She went all red when I spoke to her like silly little girls do.

2. She said she couldn't get come with me cos she'd be in trouble with her mam. Speaking to her made me realise how young she was. I could tell she liked the attention and I made sure I got her name.

3. I found her online. She didn't post any pictures or anything interesting but I knew what had worked last time. All the usual stuff, like yeah, you're really pretty, school's really boring, you know, the stuff kids like to hear.

4. It took me ages, but I finally got her to send me a picture. It was a bit crap really but at least I knew she was into me and I had a bit of insurance in case I needed it later.

5. She started coming out for a drive. I introduced her to a few people and gave her stuff.
Most of the time it was talking to a little kid, but she started to dress more like I told her so it wasn't all bad I suppose.

6. Her mam had been asking a load of questions and I told her to tell her that she wasn't a kid anymore and she should get a fella of her own.
I gave her a phone and told her she had to keep it with her all the time in case I needed her.

7. I thought about getting her to bring her mates round, but they were a bunch of stuck up cows. They can wait. I did all the usual stuff to tell her that she didn't need 'em anymore and that only I understood her. The daft cow believed everything I said.

8. I took her round to a mate's house and told her not to do anything to embarrass me. She did all right actually. She can't take her drink though; she told me she loved me every two sodding minutes.

9. Turning her against her friends was harder than it was with her mam, but I think I'd done enough. She was nearly ready now.

10. I gave her a bottle when I picked her up. I told her tonight was a big night. The stupid cow had no idea what was coming.

11. I told her that I needed to her shag some blokes I knew, otherwise they'd get me.
It was a good job I'd got her pissed as she might have noticed me smirking.
She said she loved me and all that and she'd do anything. Silly bitch.

12. She took it all pretty well. Best thing was that it quietened her down a bit too so I didn't have to listen to her banging on about crap all the time.
The fellas were impressed. Kept asking when they could have a go on it.

13. I was giving her all sorts now and she took it all.
She went along with the sex too. I was quite proud of my little slag, but every now again I had to remind her what she was now, you know, make sure she keeps coming back.

14. I don't know what she did to piss Bozza off, but one night he nearly frigging killed her.
She said she wanted out so I reminded her about the secret pictures and told her that I was the only thing stopping her brother getting a nasty kneecapping.

15. I even told her the truth; she was a slag. A dirty little druggie slag and no-one, not her mam, coppers, or anyone she used to know would listen to a word she said.

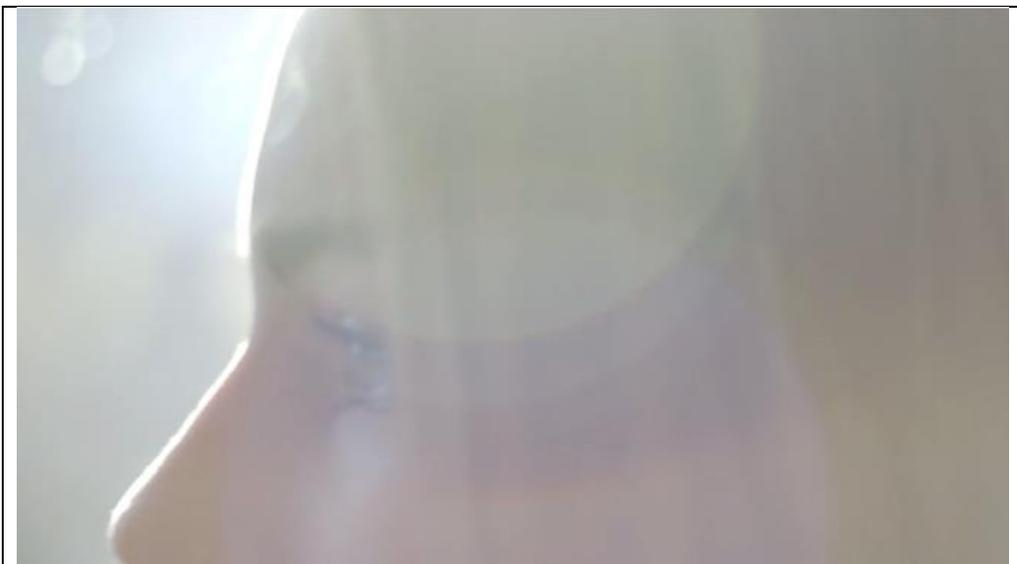

16. I'm getting bored of Jane. I'm gonna see if she'll bring her mates round. It's probably a good thing for her too you know to lighten the load?

17. Something's going on with Jane.
That stupid little bitch better not cause any trouble everything I've done for her.

18. She said no. Can you believe it?
I told the fellas and they've heard a few things too. We aren't gonna lay low though; there's plenty of other silly bitches out there to go.

19. Turns out she's stronger than I thought. People are saying they know what I'm up to.

We need to find some fresh meat.
