3 GIVE THEM YOUR SNAPCHAT

Giving out @'s or having them in your bio means anyone can add you. Perps use cos messages aren't stored or traced. Keep  for people you trust.

When we feel uncomfortable, we are quick to be polite to keep ourselves safe. Go with your gut, if it feels weird then walk away and ignore.

2 PARTY INVITE? I'M GOING!

It can be dangerous, especially on your own. If you do decide to meet with someone, go with a mate & let a trusted adult know where you will be – better yet get a lift there and back!

Someone giving you a bad gut feeling? Screen shot the messages and block them. Remember to tell a trusted adult if you are worried the block button won't do enough.

7 IGNORE AND BLOCK THEM

Often a perp will target more than one person at a time. If you have a bad feeling about someone who's been speaking to you, block them and pass their @ around to let others know to avoid.

Might seem dramatic but if things have progressed and you're worried about yourself or a mate, call local police on 101 because they can help. If there is immediate danger, call 999.

6 TALK TO SOMEONE YOU TRUST ABOUT IT

Speak to a person who has your best interest in mind like a parent, older sibling or teacher if you're worried about something. Often they can help you work out what to do.

Never feel pressured to sext or send nudes. It is dangerous, especially to people you can't truly trust to have your best interests in mind. Also, remember it's illegal if you're under 18.
